Johnson Flies To See Devastated Areas Today

NEWSROOM NOTES — "Traffic accidents happen to people who are looking for them," asserts a prominent psychoanalyst in a magazine article.

Dr. Richard Firestone, a psychoanalyst who has been named Special Adviser to the New York City Department of Traffic, states that unresolved interpersonal conflicts and repressed emotions among normal individuals are responsible for more traffic accidents than mechanical failures in autos, plus all the irresponsible actions of habitual drunkards, chronic safety violators, and emotionally unstable personalities put together.

Says Dr. Firestone, "The pressures of daily living are strong contributing factors to accidents. There are pressures that build up so much emotional stress that unconsciously destructive impulses are stimulated and people go out looking for accidents."

In illustration of his point, Dr. Firestone cites the example of a businessman of his acquaintance who had crossed the same mid-Manhattan street for eleven years, never breaching a safety rule and never suffering any mishap. Then one day, he had tried to beat a light and was side-swiped by a car.

Though it had appeared to be a chance occurrence, deeper inquiry revealed that the man had recently been by-passed for promotion by his boss, angered by his wife's reception of the news, and actually wanted — unconsciously — to be hurt in an accident.

"The value of knowing what causes the majority of accidents," says Dr. Firestone in the article, "is that we can encourage people to release their aggressions and disappointments in healthier directions and at another time and place than when driving or crossing the street. If we're successful in educating people to these ideas, we should be able to reduce significantly the number of traffic accidents in this country."

Readings Drop in Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — The hot, muggy weather that saw most of Illinois sizzling in mid-90 temperatures disappeared during the night and brought readings this morning in the low and mid 50s and the 60s.

There were some scattered showers in central and Southern Illinois today, with considerable sunshine in the north. Temperatures ranged from the mid 60s in northern Illinois to the 70s in the south. Little change was anticipated for Saturday.

Tonight's lows should range from the mid 40s north to the 50s in Southern Illinois.

Springfield, which had a high reading Thursday of 97, dipped down to 64 this morning, while Dubuque, Iowa, which recorded 75 Thursday, dropped to 49 degrees overnight.

Takes Offense

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Robert F. Murphy's estranged wife refused to open the door, the 35-year-old San Francisco truck driver took offense, police said.

He smashed his pickup truck four times into the side of the house, finally landing in the kitchen.

Police booked the trucker Thursday for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon—the pickup truck.

Hurricane Footprint

The concrete pavement of a city street in Jacksonville Beach, Fla., is crushed as though stepped on by a giant foot after Hurricane Dora struck. The massive storm hurled its fury against this residential area, 17 miles east of Jacksonville, for more than a dozen hours.

East German Scientist Tragic Facts of Fire Disclosed Now in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top East German nuclear scientist who worked for the Russians fled to West Germany and has been granted political asylum in the United States, the State Department announced today.

The nuclear physicist is 53-year-old Prof. Heinz Barwich. He was deputy director of the Joint Nuclear Research Institute in Dubna, Russia, until early this year when he went to Communist East Germany as director of the Central Institute for Nuclear Research located at Rossendorf.

Barwich is now in the United States, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said. But the State Department spokesman declined to disclose where, or what Barwich will be doing in this country.

Barwich went to the Soviet Union after World War II along with a number of other leading German scientists. Others went to the West, including some who became leading figures in the U.S. missiles and atomic fields.

McCloskey's announcement about the defection of the Berlin-born Barwich left many details undisclosed.

MILLEDGEVILLE — The tragic facts of an early Thursday morning fire here which claimed two lives and destroyed at least two buildings were brought to light Thursday afternoon at an inquest called by Dr. L. B. Hussey, Carroll County coroner.

According to testimony heard at the inquest, the conclusion reached was that Paul and Vivian Gaar, the dead couple, may have been spared if they had stayed in their bedroom and tried to escape the searing flames through a window rather than through the front door near where their bodies were found.

The Gaars, whose apartment was located above an empty store being converted into a new post office were found near the main entrance to the home.

A son, Richard, 14, was able to escape the fire by fleeing down a back stairway after his mother's screams awakened him. Richard tried to re-enter the holocaust in an effort to save his trapped parents but he was driven back by the smoke and heat, Dr. Hussey said.

The Gaars had all been asleep before the smoke and flames were discovered in the building.

Deputy State Fire Marshals Robert Puckett, Sterling, and Jerome Hobel, Rockford, who were both at the scene, indicated the fire may have been caused by defective wiring although the building had been rewired within the past two years.

It is believed that the fire started in the kitchen of the apartment, passed up a wall into the attic area and smoldered for some time before being detected.

There is still some question as to how the fire was discovered, but apparently Village Marshal Harry Crawford was on a nearby street corner talking with another man when the two of them noticed a small amount of smoke wafting in the air.

Investigations led the men to the building where the Gaars lived, and Crawford immediately turned in the first alarm.

The second man and two others who were nearby made their way up the front stairway of the apartment but a terrific amount of smoke drove them back to the street.

It was almost two hours before the firemen could remove the charred bodies of the couple.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — President Johnson decided today to take a first-hand look at the devastation caused by hurricane Dora in northeast Florida and southeast Georgia.

The President was scheduled to arrive in this battered city at mid-afternoon, make an on-the-ground inspection and then fly to Brunswick, Ga., for a look at the stricken Georgia coast.

The surprise announcement of Johnson's plans came as a federal inspection team headed by Edward A. McDermott, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, began a tour of the two-state area.

The federal officials had been dispatched earlier by the President, who Thursday declared all sections of Georgia and Florida battered by Dora a major disaster area.

George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, said congressmen from the two states had urged the President to visit the badly damaged region.

Reedy announced the trip barely an hour before Johnson's scheduled departure.

Meanwhile, residents of the stricken area began a massive cleanup and repair job, at the same time watching apprehensively the slow approach of hurricane Ethel.

It was too early to tell where Ethel would go, but her center was whirling toward the U.S. mainland along the same path taken by her late, destructive sister, Dora.

Dora limped weakly, but wet, westward through the Florida Panhandle, her fury spent in an orgy of destruction along the Atlantic shore and a slow trek across the inland pinelands.

Preliminary estimates put damage in the tens of millions of dollars. But because of early warnings and preparation, including large-scale coastal evacuations, there were no deaths directly attributable to the storm.

Gales lashed the state capital of Tallahassee and other parts of thinly populated northern Florida for hours during the night, but little damage was reported other than minor flooding.

Highest winds recorded inland were less than 50 m.p.h.

Ethel, a small storm with a 300-mile spread of gales and peak winds of 95 m.p.h., churned westward from a spot about 800 miles east of Palm Beach.

"It's a good three days away, even if it should maintain its present course," said chief forecaster Gordon Dunn. "We're not making any predictions at this point."

Although power was still largely out, Jacksonville, St. Augustine and Brunswick pitched into a monumental repair and cleanup job.

More than 30,000 persons who spent two nights on the hard floors of churches, schools and armories in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina returned to their homes.

Some had no homes left. Fourteen houses north of St. Augustine were demolished. The huge tides and driving waves cut the land from under them and they washed away.

However, considering Dora's massive reach, structural damage was relatively light.

The worst destruction was caused by flood waters. They ran waist deep in the streets of St. Augustine during high tide.

Florida's valuable citrus crop, which escaped with little wind damage, was menaced by the torrential rains. Standing water can rot the roots of young trees within a few days.

Tons of leaves, limbs, shingles, signs, awnings, antennas, tiles, glass, wires, poles and trees littered streets.

Majestic old oaks that lined the streets of St. Augustine for decades lay on their sides. Palms were scattered like toothpicks.

Damage to the roads in Duval County, which is metropolitan Jacksonville, was estimated at $5 million.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee had politically charged Bobby Baker case back in its lap today over Republican protests that "another whitewash" had been decreed by Democratic leaders.

Bellotti Wins Upset in Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti scored a smashing 28,000-vote upset victory in the Massachusetts primary Thursday to wrest the Democratic nomination for governor from the incumbent Gov. Endicott Peabody.

Complete returns from the state's 2,008 precincts gave Bellotti 363,243 votes to Peabody's 335,620.

Former Gov. John A. Volpe, whom Peabody defeated two years ago by a 5,000-vote margin out of more than two million cast, was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Bellotti's victory means that for the first time in Massachusetts history both major parties will be backing a son of Italian immigrants for the state's highest office.

In challenging Peabody for the nomination, Bellotti—father of 12—bucked the state Democratic party leadership including Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who from his hospital bed issued a strong endorsement of Peabody.

Later, Kennedy issued a statement saying the nominee "deserves the congratulations of every Democrat for the hard and courageous campaign which brought him victory. He now deserves the support of every Democrat in the coming contest to bring about a total Democratic victory in November."

Kennedy, his back broken in a plane crash last June, was unopposed for nomination for a full six year term in the Senate seat once held by his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy.

Bellotti, 41, rebounded from a crushing defeat at the Democratic State Convention last June. Peabody won the convention endorsement by a margin of better than 3 to 1.

News in Brief

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Rumors of an impending coup or other upheaval surged through Saigon tonight. There was a general official impression that there may be serious trouble over the weekend, perhaps Sunday.

Most of the coup rumors, none confirmed, have to do with a supposed "Catholic backlash" resulting from command changes Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh has made in concession to Buddhists and student critics. The premier has fired eight high military officers from various posts in the last week.

The possibility of fresh trouble in Saigon arose as Khanh's government formally charged that neighboring Cambodia is fighting in open support of the Communist Viet Cong.

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller urged Republicans today to put aside "quibbling over petty differences" in what he termed a threat to the two-party system. The Republican vice-presidential nominee addressed an overflow crowd of more than 1,000 at a breakfast rally that opened a one-day tour of Connecticut, the last round in his first full week of campaigning.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters claimed today chances were better than even that the Senate would adopt a compromise solution in its fight over legislative reapportionment.

The compromise, reportedly backed by President Johnson, would declare that it is the "sense of Congress" that court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures be delayed.

ANKARA (AP) — Turkey gave a warning to the Greek Cypriot government today that it will convoy food to Turkish Cypriots Tuesday and will brook no interference. The Greek Cypriots replied that any such Turkish move would be "a kind of invasion."

SINGAPORE (AP) — Britain dispatched four warships from the Mediterranean to Singapore today to bolster its Far East Fleet guarding Malaysia against Indonesia.

A Royal Navy spokesman said the two frigates and two destroyers should arrive within a week. He said they were ordered here "obviously due to the deteriorating situation in Southeast Asia."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, campaigning in New Jersey, the nation's most highly urbanized state, took heavy swings Thursday night at Sen. Barry Goldwater's record in dealing with urban problems.

He said Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, has opposed programs for urban renewal, mass transit, public housing, housing aid for the elderly and water pollution control grants.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House leadership has set next Thursday for a vote on the proposal to finance medical care for the elderly through Social Security.

The vote will come on the question of whether to send the bill, passed by the Senate, to a conference of both houses. The Senate attached a medical care rider to a bill previously passed by the House.

Backers of the proposal are expected to seek a vote instructing conferees to take certain positions on the measure. If so, it would be the first time that the principle of Social Security financings of hospital care for persons over 65 has come to a vote in the house.

Goldwaters Greet Crowd

Goldwater: Must Take Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, making his bid for Illinois' 26 electoral votes, said today on his arrival in Chicago that, "Illinois is a state we have to take and will take."

In a brief talk at O'Hare International Airport, Goldwater was all politics.

He said Illinois is one of the four key states. He didn't name the other

OREGON — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater will arrive at the Ogle County Fairgrounds here between 4:45 p.m. and 5 p.m. today for his address at the annual Republican Rally.

The Arizona senator will arrive at Greater Rockford Airport, Rockford, about 4 p.m., and will travel by motorcade to the fairgrounds. He will return to Rockford at 6 p.m. for a private reception at the airport and will depart by plane at 7 p.m.

three in his talk, but later told reporters that they are California, Texas and Ohio.

And, of Chicago, he said: "This is the critical city in the United States."

And he said he would be returning to Chicago repeatedly during the campaign.

Barry Criticizes Supreme Court

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today that the Supreme Court, by not using judicial restraint, threatens our present system of government.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the American Political Science Assn., the Republican presidential candidate said:

"I weigh my words carefully when I say that — of all three branches of government—today's Supreme Court is the least faithful to the constitutional tradition of a limited government, and to the principle of legitimacy in the exercise of power."

Twice Thursday Goldwater criticized the court's decision on reapportionment of state legislatures. Today he was again critical of that decision, as well of its verdict in the school prayer case.

He cited these to illustrate his contention the court is moving into areas he doesn't think it should be in.

"I do not doubt for one minute that law must keep up with the changing times," Goldwater said. "But the job of keeping the law up to date should be in the hands of the legislatures, the Congress, and the common law courts, not just in the hands of the nine appointed justices of the Supreme Court."

Goldwater said today's court operates differently from those in the past.

"Until recent years," he said, "the Supreme Court itself has exercised judicial restraint with respect to acts of Congress with which it disagreed but which were founded on legitimate exercise of legislative power."

"But not the Supreme Court of today!"

This is the last day of Goldwater's first week of official campaigning. He has speeches at Rockford, and Oregon late today, and then it's back to Washington for the weekend before taking his drive for the presidency into the South next week.

Taylor in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Maxwell Taylor, U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, arrived here today en route to Saigon after a conference with President Johnson.

Taylor's aides said the ambassador would spend most of the day in Honolulu before resuming his flight to the Vietnamese capital at an unspecified time tonight.

Attend the Church of Your Faith Regularly

They're newcomers. They moved into the neighborhood just last week, and this is their first Sunday in our church. Very soon they'll be making friends, and joining in many worthwhile church activities. Mr. Jones may develop his talent for organization, or fund-raising, or youth leadership. His wife may find her place in one of the busy organizations for women, or discover that she loves to teach. The children will settle happily into Sunday School classes suited to their age group. Above all, this young family will share in the secure feeling of Christian fellowship and spiritual well-being that comes from serving God and His Church. They will be better people, better neighbors and better citizens because of their decision to put God's work first.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Barbara Hasselberg, Miss Minnesota, performs combination Hawaiian, Polynesian and Tahitian dance with which she won first round competition in talent division of Miss America competition in Atlantic City, N.J. She is competing with 49 other girls for the title of Miss America 1965 to be awarded Saturday night.

Tall Girls Are Vogue In Miss America Test

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Tall girls are in style at the Miss America pageant, especially when they're in swim suits.

The 10 judges have chosen two towering beauties as winners in the first two nights of the preliminary swim suit competitions.

Miss West Virginia, Ella Kessel, won top honors Thursday night in the swim suit. She stands 5-foot-10 1/2 in her stocking feet and is the tallest contestant. Her measurements are 37-25-37.

Winner of the swim suit division Tuesday, first night of competition, was Miss California, Sherri Lee Raap, who is 5-9 and has measurements of 38-24-36.

Thursday night the judges chose Miss North Dakota, Karen Kopseng, as the winner of the talent division after she sang the aria

"Un Del Di" from "Madame Butterfly."

She joined Miss Minnesota, Barbara Hasselberg, who had taken the first night's talent competition with her interpretation of three hula dances.

Each of the four girls has assured herself of a $1,000 scholarship though winning the preliminary events does not guarantee a place in the semifinals.

Tonight is the final night of the preliminary competitions.

Points are earned by the contestants in swim suit, talent and evening gown competition. Those points will be used by the judges to select the 10 semi-finalists.

From the 10 a successor to the reigning queen, Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark., will be chosen Saturday night.

Sleeping Sickness In Alton

ALTON (AP) — Alton Health officials reported late Thursday they are investigating three diagnosed cases of encephalitis that are being treated in the city's hospitals.

Miss JoAnn Asselborn Weds Nelson Woodard

MR. AND MRS. NELSON E. WOODARD

ROCHELLE—Miss JoAnn Marie Asselborn, daughter of Mrs. Joseph C. Asselborn, rural Rochelle, and the late Mr. Asselborn, was given in marriage by her brother, James, when she became the bride of Nelson Eugene Woodard, Madison, Wis., in an Aug. 29 wedding held in St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt S. Woodard of Endicott, N.Y.

The Rev. E. J. McIsaac officiated at the morning double-ring service, and vocal selections by Robert Hart, Creston, were accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Herrmann, organist.

Attendants

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Janice Woodard, Ithaca, N.Y.; Miss Sandra Baird, Springfield, Mass., and Miss Claire Lizio, Wheaton, attended the bride as bridesmaids, and Mrs. James C. Asselborn was her sister-in-law's matron of honor.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace edged the neckline of the bride's floor length gown of white peau de soie, and lace appliques also accented the front of the gown's molded bodice and bell skirt which featured a detachable chapel train. A matching lace and pearl trimmed pillbox headpiece held her butterfly illusion veil, and white roses, stephanotis and ivy were combined in her bouquet.

Floor length gowns of white silk faille designed with sleeveless bodices and cameo necklines were worn by the attendants with matching jewel-trimmed jackets. Panels attached to back clusters of cabbage roses fell to the hemlines of their skirts, and their headresses were faille circlets. Streamers of variegated ivy formed their bouquets.

A jacket-dress of royal blue and emerald green brocade was worn with green accessories by Mrs. Asselborn, and the bridegroom's mother chose a cranberry red costume and matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white roses.

John Finnegan, Boston, Mass., was Mr. Woodard's best man, and serving as groomsmen were Grant Crichtfield, Amherst, Mass., and Reese Jenkins and James McHale, Madison, Wis.

Lawn Reception

The table arranged for a lawn reception and wedding luncheon held at the home of the bride's mother following the service, held a four-tiered cake decorated with white and yellow roses and topped by a nosegay of white roses. A wreath of flowers also encircled the base of the cake, and roses and ivy trimmed table candelabras holding lighted tapers. Miss Mary Coakes served punch during the reception from an ice bowl which held molded roses and figurines of a bridal couple, and coffee was poured by Miss Joan Spitz. In charge of registering guests was Mrs. James McCaslin.

Gold accessories and the corsage from her bouquet complemented the cocoa brown dress worn with a yellow

Jones-Griser Nuptial Vows

Miss Virginia Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Jones, Cheyenne, Wyo., wore a gown of white silk organza and chantilly lace when she became the bride of John T. Griser, son of Mrs. Eunice Griser and Norman G. Griser, Dixon, in an Aug. 22 wedding performed by the Rev. Walter Scherbaum in Calvary Baptist Church, Cheyenne.

Miss Cathy Peters provided nuptial music for the double-ring ceremony, and church decorations included pew-bows of white satin and altar bouquets of white and orchid gladioli and orchid carnations.

The lace bodice of the bride's gown was styled with a scalloped bateau neckline and long sleeves tapering to wrist-points, and the floor length bouffant skirt featured a chantilly lace train. A heart-shaped crown of pearls and crystals held her illusion veil, and her cascading bridal bouquet combined white carnations, pink gladioli and lilies-of-the-valley.

She was escorted to the church altar by her father, and was attended by Miss Joan Jones, maid of honor, and Miss Marie Waugh, bridesmaid. Their identically designed dresses of orchid crystalline featured wrap-around skirts and molded bodices styled with rounded necklines and brief sleeves. Circular veils trimmed their white headpieces, and they wore short white gloves and carried arrangements of mint green gladioli.

The bridegroom's best man was his brother, Norman D. Griser, Rockford; David Heilman served as groomsmen, and ushering was done by Bruce Ponton and Anthony Mollohan.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones chose a frock of printed pink dacron and black accessories, and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a dress of rose lace over taffeta accented by white accessories. White feathered chrysanthemums and pink rosebuds were combined in the shoulder corsages they wore.

The church fellowship hall was the setting for a reception held following the ceremony and attended by 70 guests. Lavender tapers in crystal candelabras and an arrangement of lavender and white pompons centered the serving table which held a four-tiered cake topped by figures of a bride and bridegroom and decorated with lavender roses and silver leaves. Mrs. Charles Cogdill served the cake, and punch and coffee were poured by Mrs. Arnold Ivie, Mrs. Lemuel Waugh, Mrs. Clyde Owens and Mrs. Roy Bergan. Reception guests were registered by Miss Janice Ronning.

For their wedding trip to Estes Park and Denver, Colo., the new Mrs. Griser wore a blue and green printed dacron dress with white accessories and a pearl necklace, her gift from the bridegroom. A 1963 graduate of Cheyenne High School, she is an employee of Hutchins Flower Shop in Cheyenne where they are residing at 2819 Snyder Ave.

Mr. Griser, a 1961 Dixon High School graduate, is serving in the Air Force and is currently stationed at F. E. Warren AFB near Cheyenne.

Accompanying Mrs. Griser to Cheyenne for her son's wedding were his aunt and grandmother, Mrs. Irma Taubenheim and Mrs. Ella Norberg, Dixon, and Norman Griser, Rockford.

Nation's Voice Must Rise

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

The ghastly damage done to America—and American lives—under the cloak of the United Nations Military Staff Committee is herein made known. This was Korea. The committee's tentacles still tap into South Viet Nam.

A study of the U.N. records is dull—and innocent on the surface. But when you apply history to the drab data of names and dates the indication is calamitous.

The U.N. Military Staff is the body representing the armed forces made available to the Security Council by member nations.

The first chairman was a Russian—Arkady Sobolov, a top Kremlin functionary and Communist commissar in the Red Army. He held the post continuously from 1945 to 1951.

A whole parade of Russian officers then served: Konstantine Zychenko, the World War II censor (inspector) of the Red Army; Ilya Chernyshev, A. Dobrynin, Georgy Arkadev and (presently) V. V. Zadvisky, all high-ranking Communists and officers. But the two key men affecting us are Sobolov and Lt. Gen. P. A. Visiliev, a battle-tried combat commander of Soviet troops.

In 1947 Sobolov imported Visiliev to New York. His title became Chairman of the Military Staff, reporting to Sobolov as chairman of the committee.

U.N. records show that, promptly, Gen. Visiliev took a trip. His (a Communist general) official assignment was to survey the troubled areas in Asia where United Nations members might be in danger of invasion. This, of course, was like sending John Dillinger to inspect the locks on a bank vault. Sobolov selected the vault. Visiliev went to South Korea.

The Soviet general holed in there, inspecting the defenses on the 38th parallel, built to protect South Korea from invasion by the Communists from the North. This meant bastion areas around Yonan, Kae-song, Munsan, Kimp'o and Chunchon, on the strategic Punnun River. Plenty of time, plenty of help, all details—official U.N. business. The plans, drawings, logistic tables, capabilities for defense against Red attack—everything.

By the spring of 1950 Gen. Visiliev appeared finished. But the Russian did not return to New York. Now note an innocent, on-the-surface date in the U.N. records. But put it in the light of history.

In April, 1950, Visiliev applied for a leave of absence. It was granted. Then Visiliev vanished like the Cheshire cat. And why not? He had what he wanted. So did the Kremlin. So did the Red North Koreans. So did Mao Tse-tung.

Here U.S. Commanding General Mark W. Clark, describing the situation that later confronted him, makes a remark (page 11) in his book, "From the Danube to the Yalu": "I cannot help but wonder whether we were faced with hidden enemies who sat with us in our most secret councils."

In June, less than two months after Visiliev vanished from South Korea, the Red North Koreans came slashing through the defenses on the 38th parallel. They were even able to find their way at night, of course, killing and moving as they chose. From there on 142,000 Americans were killed, wounded or captured.

Our real bridgehead in Korea was the fortune of our G.I.'s. Do the heroes who die for our country know the incredible stupidity that so often precedes them? Do not those who die now in South Viet Nam—quietly, tragically, unknowingly, obediently—deserve more than to have our politicians distract us with "You never had it so good?"

The Americans who are in that war all the way are the men who live every day on the jungle mounds—and die. But whenever Saigon news inadvertently explodes it upsets Washington's political apparatus. For, as with Cuba, our embarrassed government's policy is: "See no South Viet Nam, hear no South Viet Nam, speak no South Viet Nam." We, as a people, must take over.

A nation's real home is its inner spirit. We are as much on trial as any American soldier in South Viet Nam. The outraged voice of our great nation must rise, here and now. We must demand an end to the stupidities, the failures, the blunders our obedient men pay for, the cover-ups and manipulated news about South Viet Nam—and yes—a heading of the lessons about the leaks that may continue through the U.N. Military Staff Committee with its channels straight to Moscow, Ho Chi-Minh and Peking.

Things Dixon Talked About

(From the files of the Dixon Evening Telegraph)

10 YEARS AGO

The Telegraph has received another report of a large tomato. Mrs. Mabel Quinby, Oregon, brought to the Telegraph office Friday an oxheart type tomato which weighed one pound and 11 ounces. The circumference was 16 inches and the measurement from stem to bottom was 6½ inches.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roe, Grand Detour, returned recently from a trip by air, when they visited Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Shaw in Mexico City, Mexico.

Miss Sallie Prescott has returned for her senior year at Stratford College, Danville, Va. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Prescott, Shore Acres.

Robert Asford, who graduated in June from Dixon High School, spent the summer in Baraboo, Wisconsin, visiting his mother, Mrs. Stella Anders.

25 YEARS AGO

Tom Richards and Louie Bevilacqua will leave tomorrow morning to enroll at the University of Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. Both were outstanding players on Dixon High School's football varsity last season. They will be accompanied to South Bend by Tony Bevilacqua.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Wilhelm and Mrs. E. K. Ort have returned to their home in Dixon after a vacation trip by automobile during which they visited the New York world's fair and made stops at points in various Eastern states.

The misses Janet and Mildred Glessner of Elgin spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Glessner of First Street.

40 YEARS AGO

Postmaster John E. Moyer and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albright are enjoying a motor trip through the East. Cards received this morning were from Washington D.C., where they are spending a few days.

Mrs. J. C. Lyons and daughter, Mrs. Chester Barriague, and daughter, Rougene, drove to Oregon yesterday afternoon to attend the Ogle County fair.

Burglars stole 40 shoes from the sample room of a North Bay hotel, apparently not realizing that they all were for the right foot.

75 YEARS AGO

The condensed milk factory of this city is now receiving and condensing from 10,000 to 12,000 pounds of milk per day. Pretty good for a commencement. It has been in operation but a few weeks.

Stores in Dixon don't remain idle. The store of I. B. Countryman which will not be vacated for four or five months, has already been engaged by a large druggist and proprietary medicine manufacturing establishment.

The residents of the Fourth Ward at Rockford are up in arms against the introduction of the dry-closet system in the Lincoln school, claiming that it is pestilential, while at the same time admitting that they know nothing about it.

Avoid these pitfalls if you don't want your youngsters to dub you "old-fashioned."

Bringing "when I was your age" into the conversation.

Letting noise and confusion "drive you crazy."

Always saying "I'll have to think it over" when your son or daughter asks permission to do something.

Setting too great store by possessions—so that you are all upset when an unavoidable accident occurs.

Relying on "sermons" to get your ideas across, instead of depending on just the right word at the right moment.

Harping on a child's fault or what you think is a fault.

Doing your worrying out loud.

Using "I'd worry about you" as an excuse for not letting a child do something he wants to do and you don't want him to.

Criticizing their friends.

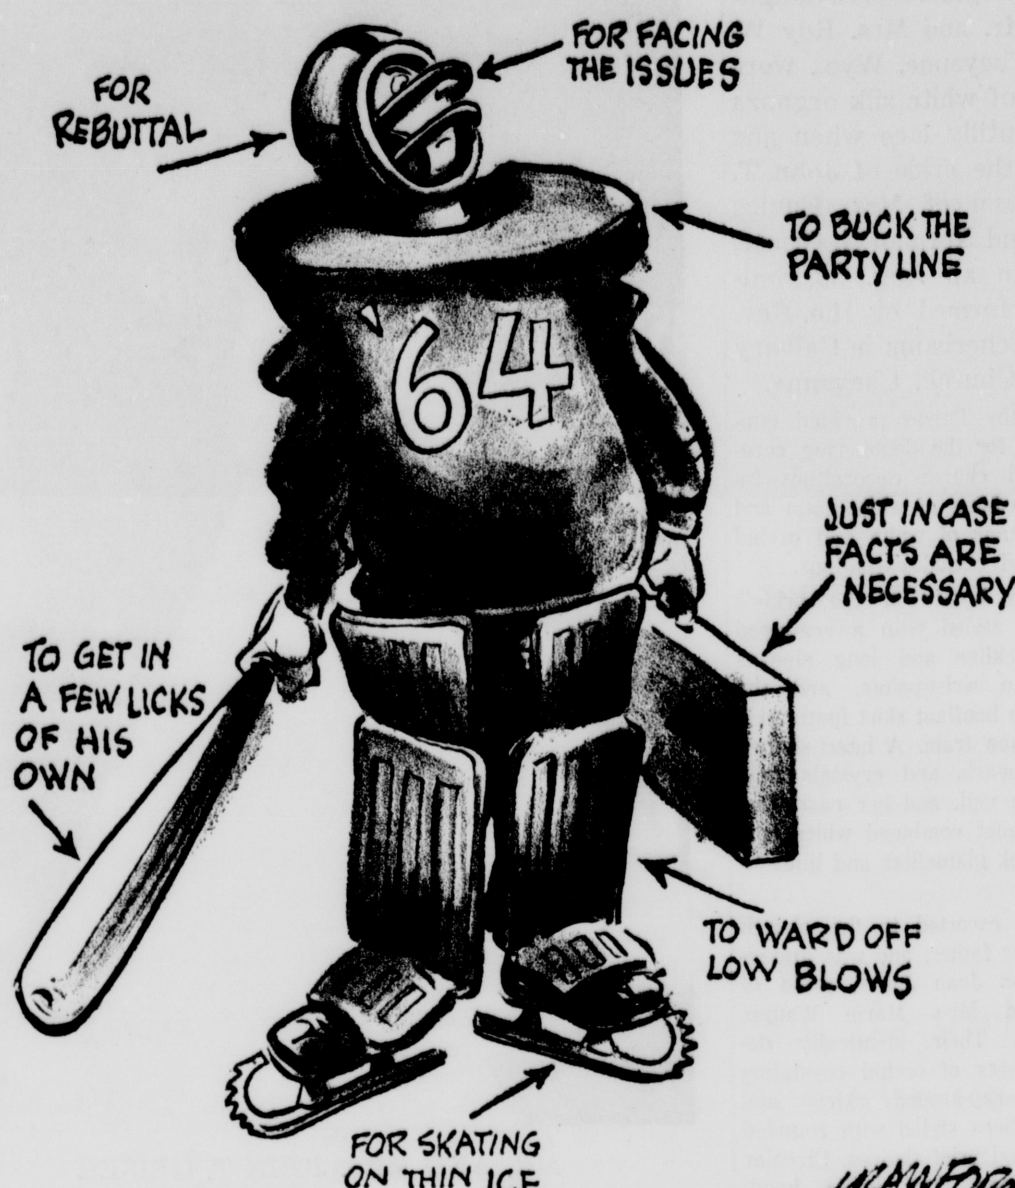

Talking as though young people today are worse than they were when you were growing up.

Acting as though it is ridiculous for him to think something is terribly important because it doesn't seem so to you.

Making fun of teen-age fads the whole crowd thinks are hip.

What the Well-Dressed Candidate Will Wear

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My uncle had a lumbar sympathectomy. What is this operation and what is it for?

A—This is a cutting of the sympathetic nerve roots as they emerge from the vertebral column in the lower back. It is frequently done on both sides. The operation may be performed on victims of chronic pancreatitis, diseases of the blood vessels in the legs and severe elevation of the blood pressure.

Several weeks before such an operation is undertaken the nerve roots are injected with a substance that temporarily paralyzes them. If this procedure results in improvement, the permanent severing of the nerves is justifiable. This major operation is not, however, done as often as it was in the past because medical means of treatment have greatly improved and sometimes the operation results in too great a lowering of the blood pressure.

Q—My brother, 64, has myelogenous leukemia. How serious is that type of the disease?

A—Since leukemia is a form of cancer of the blood, any type is a serious health hazard. Treatment has been improving, however.

Q—What is the difference between acute and chronic leukemia? Are they related to lymphosarcoma?

A—Acute leukemia is usually fatal in six or seven months but persons with chronic leukemia may live for several years, especially when they are treated with X-ray or other forms of irradiation and chlorambucil or other appropriate drugs. Hodgkin's disease or lymphosarcoma is a distinct but very similar disease. The treatment is the same as for leukemia.

Q—What is a Ghon complex of the chest and how does it affect a person?

A—The first or primary lesion of tuberculosis in a child is sometimes referred to as a Ghon tubercle. This and the extension of the disease to the nearby lymph nodes is the primary or Ghon complex. How tuberculosis affects a person depends on such factors as individual resistance, which is highest in persons who are physically fit, the number of tubercle bacilli that gain entrance into the body, which may be less than 10 or several hundred, and the promptness with which the disease is discovered and given adequate treatment.

Q—In a person past 45 years of age would the prolonged use of isoniazid cause hardening of the arteries?

A—Since isoniazid is given for tuberculosis it should be taken until the disease is cured. The drug does not cause hardening of the arteries.

Dear Ann:

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: What chance does a divorced woman have when a married man goes after her, tells her a string of lies and then, after she has severed all relations with single men who offered marriage he dumps her?

This story is such a tired one I'm ashamed to tell it. My boss couldn't take his eyes off me. He pursued me as if I were the only woman in the world. I was first flattered, then smitten—and finally hopelessly in love.

From the things he had told me about his wife I was sure she was a mess. Then one day we met. I was stunned. She was a beautiful woman, intelligent, gracious, with a sense of humor and an engaging personality.

What's the matter with a man who would run around and cheat on a woman like that? Why did he chase me? And why is he now chasing another divorcee—this time a plain, unattractive one?

You are the lady with the answers. Do you have one for me? — SCORNED AND WRATHFUL

Dear Scorned and Wrathful: The Don Juans will always be with us. They must keep proving to themselves that they still have it.

But never mind about HIM, let's talk about you. The divorcee is a particularly vulnerable target because she is a lonely woman who feels like a failure. These "losers" would do well to remember that the married man who chases dames is like a dog who runs after a car. He doesn't really mean to catch it.

Dear Ann Landers: My Mother is my problem. She doesn't care how she looks around the house. Some days she will walk around in an old ratty bathrobe until 4:30 p.m. I am afraid to invite any kids over because I never know about her.

Yesterday an especially nice boy came to take me swimming. I wasn't quite ready and mom sat and talked to him for a few minutes. When I came into the living room and saw her sitting in an unladylike position, with torn hose rolled below the knees I almost died. That wasn't all, Ann. Her hair was up in rags and she was wearing dad's army shoes.

When I mentioned this to her she snapped, "If I'm not fancy enough for your friends, that's too bad." Can you suggest something? —PAN-CAKE

Dear Pan: What cannot be cured must be endured. You aren't about to change your mother, so you'd better change your attitude.

Never make apologies for your mother. Conduct yourself like a lady even though she is falling a little short of the mark. A truly worthy boy will understand—and he is bound to admire a girl who shows respect under trying conditions.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married eleven months. My husband told me before we married that his older brother was going to room and board with us. We needed the money and it seemed like a good idea.

Every three weeks my husband works the night shift for six days. When my brother-in-law and I are alone he makes passes. My husband would knock his head off if he knew. I hate to make trouble between brothers but I can't stand this much longer. Please tell me what to do. I've learned a lot from your column. —IN A JAM

Dear In: The Bible says you are your brother's keeper, but it doesn't say anything about keeping a brother who has the morals of a Tom cat.

Tell "Tom" he has one week to find another place to live or you will speak to your husband about him. And don't fail to make good your threat if he doesn't clear out on schedule.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hal Boyle's Hobby Is Taking Medicine

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—Everybody should have a hobby. I have what I consider the ideal hobby.

My hobby is taking medicine. It is the greatest sport of the 20th century.

To ski you have to have snow or water. To golf you need landscape. To sail you need a boat and a lake or ocean. To hunt you need a gun and something that will run from you. To fish—well, at least you need a hook and a lot of patience.

But to take medicine all you need is—medicine. There are thousands to choose from, and scores of new ones come on the market each year.

You can make the hobby as expensive or inexpensive as you choose.

The fellow who wouldn't lend you a dime to keep you from starving is glad to let you sample his medicine.

As a beginning hobbyist, you may try to take any and all kinds of medicine. This is the mark of the overzealous amateur. To him there is no difference between a medicine to rid one of tapeworms and a liniment to soothe a sprain.

A true connoisseur learns early to specialize.

You can choose medicines designed to cure or alleviate specific ailments—such as colic, colitis, chromium deficiency, or the common cold.

You can confine yourself to liquid medicines, capsules, pills, pellets, or medicines which fizz when you put them into water.

I decided to specialize in wonder drugs. The wonderful thing about many a wonder drug is its aura of romance and mystery.

Even if it turns out only to be another cure for the hiccups, you've had the excitement of darning the new, of being at least a footnote in the long story of medical progress.

Taking medicine as a hobby has a distinct social advantage. It makes you the life of any cocktail party.

People are bored with the conversation of skiers, golfers, sailing enthusiasts and African safari survivors. But they throng around me excitedly when they find out that my hobby is taking wonder drugs.

"What's the one that does you the most good?" they invariably ask.

"Aspirin," I have to admit.

FREEDOM IS HIS FLIGHT PLAN

Barry Enters Politics

(Could the Republicans win in Arizona? Despite a long history of Republican defeat, Barry—at this time politically unknown and inexperienced—thought they could. This installment of BARRY GOLDWATER: FREEDOM IS HIS FLIGHT PLAN by Stephen Shadegg shows . . . Barry's acceptance of his first political challenge . . . his philosophy from the first of "fight to win" . . . his stumping the state for a Republican gubernatorial candidate . . . the type of campaign they waged . . . the astonishing results of the Goldwater popularity and appeal.)

By STEPHEN SHADDEGG

Prior to 1950, a victory in the Arizona Democratic Primary meant certain election. Between statehood in 1912 and 1950, the Republican party had elected only two governors; and the real contests were settled in the primary. The Republican party, while alive, was barely breathing.

At the spring, 1950 meeting of the Republican organization, radio executive Charles Garland suggested the party make a determined effort to elect a governor and urged the party draft Howard Pyle, 43, a radio personality, former war correspondent and speaker to the luncheon club circuit.

Col. Randolph M. J. Evjen, Republican state chairman, knew Pyle would need a campaign manager—someone well known throughout the state—and settled on Barry Goldwater, not because he had political experience but because he was respected by both parties.

Evjen hoped that some of Barry's glamour would rub off on Pyle, who, despite his years before the microphone, presented an image of aloofness which made it difficult for people to know him. Pyle knew the odds were against him; so did Goldwater. He knew if he ran Pyle's campaign, he must inevitably share some portion of Pyle's defeat, if Arizona politics ran true to form. In other years, Republican candidates had waged milk toast and cracker crumb campaigns, carefully avoiding any frontal assault. What Barry wanted to know before committing his energies to what might be a forlorn cause was this: Did Howard Pyle intend to campaign to win? To this, when confronted, Pyle replied, "With every ounce of determination at my command."

At this point in his life, articulation of his political beliefs did not come easy to Goldwater. But he knew what he believed and recognized in Pyle a determined comrade in arms.

During the summer months prior to that September primary date, Barry's red, white and blue airplane carried the two campaigners into every corner of the state, with Barry at the controls. On these flights, Barry began to spell out the political convictions that are now his trademark; and when they landed, Pyle opened fire on the entrenched Democratic machine.

Pyle spelled out the Republican conservative philosophy with force and logic. He never spoke meanly of the opposition; avoided anything that might be construed as personal criticism. Despite their efforts, they were waging a losing battle.

The results of the 1950 Democratic primary loom enormously in any consideration of Arizona politics. An attractive middle-aged woman, Ana Frohmler, who had served with distinction as state auditor, triumphed over her five male opponents and became the Democratic nominee for Governor in the general election.

But the idea of a woman Governor was new to Arizona. As the campaign progressed, Barry counseled Pyle to avoid any reference to the sex of his opponent. Pyle, who had been only a name and voice at the beginning of the campaign, was now firmly established as an associate of Barry Goldwater, and 30 days before election day, Republicans began to sense that this time the odds were narrowed.

Barry did more than manage his candidate's campaign, he breathed life and vigor into a skeleton party structure. They shook hands and visited, were informal. Pyle with his diction and gift of expression outlined and documented the Republican philosophy. Barry, always direct, always friendly, infected the people with his enthusiasm.

Republican Howard Pyle was elected Governor on the first Tuesday in November, 1950, by a plurality of 2,991 votes. But there are those who still say that if the Democratic candidate had not been a woman, Pyle would still be behind the microphone.

Following the inauguration ceremony, Barry suffered from the sudden deflationary experience common to all who manage political campaigns. The victorious candidate strides along into the limelight. There is no sharing the victory.

He accepted the situation without complaint, although in later years he said, "As long as Howard Pyle was Governor he never once sought my advice or asked me for a suggestion in connection with the political affairs of the Governor's office."

Barry took a long vacation and then turned his attention toward 1952. Barry, who had never been awed by the odds against him, began to think about next time.

Juniors Key to Mount Morris' Season

Defense Giant Question Mark

By JIM BLUBAUGH
Telegraph Sports Editor

Polo, Oregon, and Erie, with Prophetstown the darkhorse, are rated by Mount Morris Mounders football coach, Jay Dooley, as the top teams in the North Blackhawk Conference for 1964.

Dooley thinks his Mounders will be fighting for the championship also, if and when some of his juniors are ready to go in taking the place of 1963 linemen graduates and presently some injured line graduates.

"Our backfield depth will be fair," says Dooley, "but the line depth is hurting until the juniors are ready to go, and our defense is a question mark."

Dooley is assisted with the varsity by Dennis Sexton and Dave Jacobs. The Frosh-Soph squad is handled by Jerry Allison and Bob Stahl.

Eleven lettermen return from the 1963 squad, which compiled a 5-2-1 record in the North Blackhawk Conference. Presently 28 are on the varsity squad, while 34 are out for the Frosh-Soph team.

Returning lettermen are: Ed Baker, Mike Ballard, Terry Jacobson, Gerald Kinsley, Greg Kitzmiller, Steve McNett, Terry Pierce, Tom Spencer, Ron Suter, Warren Ubben, Harold Van Arsdale.

The Mounders begin their season Sept. 18 at home against Forreston and end Nov. 6 against Prophetstown.

The schedule:
Sept. 18—Forreston
Sept. 25—at Milledgeville
Oct. 2—at Polo
Oct. 9—at Erie
Oct. 16—Oregon
Oct. 23—Lanark
Oct. 31—at Mount Carroll
Nov. 6—Prophetstown

Writer Picks San Diego, Buffalo

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Diego Chargers and the Buffalo Bills are the pre-season picks to fight it out for the American Football League championship Dec. 26 at Buffalo after the most exciting season in the league's five-year history.

Sid Gillman's Chargers, hailed as a super team after their 51-10 rout of Boston last January, figure to win it again unless Tobin Rote's arm fails him. Gillman's champions can not afford to be complacent, for both Kansas City and Oakland appear capable of challenging for the Western Division crown. Denver also should be improved with Jack Lee at quarterback.

The Eastern Division looks like another wild scramble, with no definite stickout. If Cookie Gilchrist stays healthy, the Bills appear the best of the lot despite a questionable pass defense. Houston is experimenting with rookies in its deep defense under its new coach, Sammy Baugh, and could be in trouble if anything happened to 36-year-old George Blanda. New York stakes it all on Dick Wood, who has a record of knee trouble. Boston, the defending division champs on a 26-8 playoff victory over Buffalo, must rely on its defensive unit.

Here's the way it looks from here:

WESTERN DIVISION

1. San Diego
2. Kansas City
3. Oakland
4. Denver

EASTERN DIVISION

1. Buffalo
2. Houston
3. New York
4. Boston

The Chargers finally won their first title last season with an 11-3 record. Gillman has the same well-balanced offense with Keith Lincoln and Paul Lowe to run the ball and fleet Lance Alworth and Dave Kocourek to catch Rote's passes. If Rote's sore arm acts up, the Chargers will drop back to John Hadl. Ron Mix is the key to the offensive line and big Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison lead the defense.

Don't sell Kansas City short. Hank Stram's Chiefs, the flop of the year in 1963, are primed for a comeback.

Stram has the horses with Curt Clinton, Jack Spikes, and Abner Haynes, plus rookie Mack Lee Hill. Pass-catcher Chris Burford is due back before long. The defense should be better with Bobby Bell and

Buck Buchanan in their second year. Al Davis, AFL coach of the year in 1963, will be in the contention again with his Raiders, especially with the acquisition of halfback Billy Cannon, one-time star of the

Short, Phils Romp Over Cards, 5-1

By The Associated Press
"I feel I'm a better pitcher than the batter is a hitter," says Chris Short.

The Philadelphia ace proved his point again Thursday but this time went one step further.

He showed he was a better hitter than all of the St. Louis batters combined by driving home the first two runs in the National League-leading Phillies' 5-1 victory over the Cardinals.

Short, in fact, belted two hits — a key triple and a single — in four times at bat.

The 26-year-old hurler came to the plate in the second inning with runners at first and third and one out. He promptly lashed a triple to the right field bullpen, bringing in Tony Taylor and Ruben Amaro with the first two runs in a five-run outburst.

Short's pitching, meanwhile, didn't suffer. He held the Cardinals to six hits while striking out 12 and walking one.

The victory was his 16th — he has seven losses — tying him with Jim Bunning as the team's winningest pitcher. The southpaw's earned run average — 1.89 — is second only to Sandy Koufax' 1.74 among NL pitchers.

Short's over-all performance was particularly vital because the victory boosted the Phillies' lead to six games over St. Louis, Cincinnati and San Francisco.

A defeat would have moved the Cardinals to within four games of the top with the Phillies facing an important three-game series starting in San Francisco tonight. No one has been as close as four games behind Philadelphia since Aug. 15.

The Reds blanked Pittsburgh 3-0 Friday night while the Giants knocked off Los Angeles 5-1. Milwaukee nipped New York 7-7 and Chicago edged Houston 4-3 in National League afternoon games.

Johnny Callison's two-run homer climaxed the Phillies' early, but winning, rally, which was aided by errors by Ken Boyer and Dick Groat.

The Cardinals scored their lone run in the second on a walk to Boyer, a single by Charley James and Bill White's double.

Bob Purkey, 10-8, pitched a five-hitter against the Pirates. The Reds scored all of their runs in the sixth inning. Bob Friend hit Pete Rose with a pitch, then gave up singles to Vada Pinson, Frank Robinson and Deron Johnson for two runs. The last run came across on a force play.

Billy Pierce, making his first start of the season, allowed six hits before needing relief help from Jim Duffalo in the eighth inning. Pierce, 3-0, singled across the last Giant run in the seventh, Jim Hart cracked his 27th homer, a two-run blast, in San Francisco's first inning.

Larry Jackson became the majors' second 19-game winner, scattering eight hits before needing relief help from Lindy McDaniel in the ninth inning.

The Braves snapped a 4-4 tie against the Mets in the eighth inning on Lee Maye's fourth straight hit, a single, and Rico Carty's 17th homer. Felipe Alou doubled home what turned out to be the winning run in the ninth.

Houston Oilers who had been hobbled by injuries in the past two seasons.

The Raiders got Cannon in a trade for three players — guard Sonny Bishop, fullback Bob Jackson and offensive end Dobie Craig.

A healthy, determined Cannon would give Davis a tremendous one-two running punch with Clemon Daniels, the AFL's leading ground gainer of 1963, to go with his aerial circus headed by quarterback Tom Flores and pass-catching Art Powell.

The addition of Lee, from Houston, gives Denver something it did not have last year: Lee to Lionel Taylor should be a tough combination.

Buffalo and Houston have a big edge on talent in the East, for wealthy owners have stocked up for years in the draft. The Bills would have won last year if Gilchrist and Wray Carlton had been available all year. Jack Kemp and Daryle Lamonica are a formidable passing threat. Defensive tackle Tom Sestak is a standout but the pass defense is leaky.

AL Contenders All Victorious

By The Associated Press

The bases are loaded and your best hitter is up. He bangs into a triple play, but you don't worry. A run scores on the play and that sort of thing happens only to winners.

As long as Hank Bauer's Baltimore Orioles are winners, he can take the triple plays in stride. Especially if they produce runs. That's what happened in the midst of Baltimore's 12-5 victory over Washington Thursday night.

The Orioles had scored eight runs in the fourth inning and looked to be ready for some more in the fifth when Jerry Adair, Luis Aparicio and Boog Powell opened with consecutive singles leading the bases. Brooks Robinson, who had seven straight hits was the batter.

Robinson bounced to Senator shortstop John Kennedy and Adair scored as Kennedy flipped to Don Blasingame, who relayed to Joe Cunningham to complete the seemingly routine double play. But when Aparicio tried to score too, Cunningham's throw to catcher Mike Brumley caught Aparicio and produced the American League's first triple play of the season. Four triple plays had been previously recorded in the National League.

The victory kept the Orioles one game in front of Chicago, which went 10 innings before nipping Minnesota 3-2, and 1 1/2 up on third place New York, which used home run power to drop Detroit 5-2. In the only other American League game played, Cleveland edged Boston 5-4.

Robinson had a big night except for the triple play. He rapped three singles and a double in the 17-hit Oriole attack, scoring two runs and knocking in two.

Sam Bowens contributed a three-run homer in the Orioles' big inning and also had a run-scoring double. Milt Pappas parlayed the heavy support into his 15th victory and seventh in a row.

Ron Hansen rifled his 17th homer of the season off loser Jim Kaat in the 10th inning for Chicago's victory over Minnesota. Hansen's shot came on a 3-0 pitch.

Sox starter Joel Horlen and Kaat had dueled through eight innings before Horlen left for a hitter, Hoyt Wilhelm finished up and won it for Chicago.

Elston Howard crashed a three-run homer and that was all Al Downing needed for his 12th victory as the Yankees kept pace. Joe Pepitone also homered for New York.

Downing limited the Tigers to five hits, one of them Al Kaline's 14th homer.

Pitcher Sonny Siebert and rookie Chico Salmon ripped home runs for the Indians and Don McMahon's tight relief protected the victory over the Red Sox. Dick Stuart belted his 31st homer and Tony Conigliaro got his 21st, both with a man on for Boston.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Sept. 11, the 235th day of 1964. There are 111 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1814, a fleet built in the New York state forests by Lt. Thomas Macdonough, defeated a British fleet in the Battle of Lake Champlain. The victory saved the United States from an invasion by 11,000 of the Duke of Wellington's veterans of the Napoleonic Wars.

On this date:
In 1609, Henry Hudson discovered the island of Manhattan.

In 1941, construction of the world's largest office building, the Pentagon in Washington, was started.

In 1943, the greater part of the Italian fleet surrendered at the Mediterranean island of Malta.

Ten years ago — Hurricane Edna passed over Cape Cod, Mass., Maine and New Brunswick, Canada, killing 23 persons.

Five years ago — The heir-presumptive to the throne of the Netherlands, Princess Beatrix, arrived in New York to take part in the 350th anniversary of Henry Hudson's exploration of the Hudson River Valley.

One year ago — The United States advised President Ngo Dinh Diem to remove his brother, Gao Dinh Nhu, from the South Viet Nam government.

(Editor's note: Joe Cushing, a graduate of Dixon High School and Illinois State University, Normal, has just returned from serving two years in the Peace Corps in Ceylon. The following article was written after the writer interviewed Cushing upon his return to Dixon. This fall he plans to enter St. Louis University to work on a masters degree in science education. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Cushing, Franklin Grove Rd.)

Telegraph City Editor

Centuries of Western cultural influence in Ceylon has not yet introduced to that island country a level of civilization which its people had achieved long before the birth of Christ.

The small island off the coast of India has a long history—going back to before 800 B.C., when a tribe from India settled there.

Situated in the Indian Ocean, and an independent country since 1948, it has a population equal to that of Illinois living in an area somewhat less than half the size of the Land of Lincoln.

Complicating the situation further is the fact that the majority of the population of Ceylon is located in the southern part of the island.

Although the island has been the victim of many invasions throughout its long history, what really killed the high level of civilization enjoyed there long ago was malaria which hit the population, annihilating the residents of northern Ceylon.

In the years since, what was once a flourishing area with a highly efficient irrigation system, has become a virtually uninhabited jungle.

A young man from Dixon, Joe Cushing, has just returned from Ceylon where he spent two years as a member of the Peace Corps.

Before entering the Peace Corps, Cushing was a science teacher in Yorkville Community High School. In Ceylon he served as an adviser to the science faculty of the provincial high school located in Anuradhapura, the capital city of the North Central Province.

The high school has 1,300 students and is the only public high school in the province. The students room and board at the campus.

Ceylon is not plagued with the lack of education as much as with cultural restraints which prevent the country from realizing the full benefits of skills developed through its educative processes.

Literacy in the island nation is 68 per cent. While not good compared to Western standards, which range in the upper 90s, it does indicate a general education among the populace which could cope better with its problems than is the case.

The British, long masters of the island, developed the school system. It was designed to prepare people to work in government service. Thus the education became a status symbol, in that it gave a person a prestige which he otherwise would not enjoy.

Since the British relinquished control in 1948, efforts have been made to generalize the nation's education system to train its young people in many skills which are needed by the country's economy. Religious customs and taboos often block the application of improved methods in accomplishing various tasks and in meeting new problems.

Another retarding factor is the strong family traditions. For instance, it is not uncommon for a young man from a rural area to earn a college education and then go back to his home and do nothing. He goes back because he should, according to custom. He does not work because with his education manual labor is beneath his dignity.

Cushing said the greatest need the country has for special skills is in the area of agriculture. The northern jungle area can be cleared and rehabilitated and to some extent this is being done.

The ex-Peace Corpsman said the primitive irrigation systems built before the time of Christ were so well constructed that they can be rehabilitated and put in use. Many of the old systems embedded in the jungle have been restored after the dense overgrowth was cleared away.

Agricultural development is vitally needed because Ceylon imports 40 per cent of its food supply.

Its chief export commodities are tea and rubber and the market for these has not been good in recent years. In the case of rubber, the development of synthetic rubber substitutes has perhaps permanently hurt the rubber market.

The hope of the island, economically, seems to lay in the development of its agricultural resources. Politically, in terms of the Cold War, the country, which is a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, is neutral.

Cushing pointed out, however, that the nation internally is moving to the left. He said the country does not seem to be veering to Moscow or Peking but that its domestic policies are moving toward the left rather rapidly.

One instance of change in this respect is that the present government did not renew the contract for Peace Corps people to remain in the country.

The government which had requested the young people was controlled by Social Democrats and seemed grateful for their presence in the nation. The present government is a coalition of liberal Social Democrats and Left Wing factions and is less friendly to the West.

Cushing said the schools are in session for nine months of the year. During the summer vacations, with the approval of the Peace Corps, he worked in a CARE sponsored rural development project.

These settlements are in the "dry zone," (rainfall about 40 inches per year), and are areas which the government has cleared for re-population. The settlers have five-acre plots, three devoted to raising rice and two for other crops and family garden plots.

Farmers raise about 25 to 35 bushels of rice per acre using archaic methods. Japanese farmers have average rice yields of 125 bushels per acre. The difference is that the Japanese employ improved techniques in the cultivation of rice.

Cushing thinks it is unfortunate for the country that the government chose not to renew the Peace Corps contract. There is much, particularly in the way of agricultural skills which we can offer the Ceylonese, the young Dixonite observed.

He suggested this kind of help is vital to them since one of their critical economic problems is the amount of food which it is necessary to import.

Cushing made no prediction about the future of the island except to say that internal domestic policies would drift more toward a kind of socialism.

These are a people who, in this century, have yet to find the greatness which was once their forbears. Whether their will is sufficient to the task and whether this is a time in which it is likely, the coming years will re-write history when a resurgence for them is likely.

DIXON AVIATION PROGRESS

Since our humble beginning here in Dixon last spring, things have taken place which have been interesting. My prime interest in considering Dixon from an aviation level, is to encourage local people and business, with utilization of "business aircraft".

Training people "how to fly" is our secondary interest but to us, nevertheless, important to the overall picture of aviation progress in Dixon. And so last spring, we leased a high wing training plane with modern tricycle gear during the month of May, another in June, and another in July when we felt that local interest and support justified the expenditure of a brand new $11,000 ultra modern Cherokee 140 training plane on which we very recently took delivery. Rather than purchase an obsolete trainer using conventional landing gear and a high wing, we decided to go "full tilt", and as a result, Dixon now sports a modern low wing tricycle gear, easy to land, training plane. It has the speed, range, instruments and latest radio, enabling cross country flying at its best for a training plane.

We have been fortunate in hiring the services of William (Bill) Rankin as a full time Flight Instructor since last spring. We are also fortunate in having Fred Billeb and recently Wayne Heckman, both local people, as Flight Instructors on a part time basis. The results have been several students well on their way to a "Private" license, enabling them to fly their family or friends to any point on the compass in a rented airplane, or one of their own.

The Pioneer Aero Club has been formed as a low cost way of learning how to fly, using Dixon Aviation's training plane. Briefly, a suitable applicant deposits $200 which is refundable, pays $15 per month dues, and flies for the low rate of only $8 per hour solo, whereas the normal rate by comparison is $13 per hour solo. Further support of the Club will encourage us to lease a 4 passenger Cherokee 180 in the future, available to the pilots interested in making trips away from Dixon. Insurance on aircraft is costly but is a necessity, considering the investment. Thus, $8 per hour solo is truly a "gift" to those who take advantage of the Pioneer Aero Club.

In the future we plan to equip the new Cherokee Trainer with additional radio enabling instrument cross country training. There is a saying that an instrument rating separates "the men from the boys"! Instrument ability with the "man and the machine" make flying a practical way of traveling without hindrance of weather grounding the operation, and making flying useless.

And so we feel that the "training phase at Dixon" is now on its way to a point where I can now concentrate on the reason why I came to Dixon, to encourage "business flying".

In the next few days in this paper, I will discuss the "business flying phase in Dixon" along with an important announcement. In conclusion, we want to take this opportunity to sincerely thank our students that have made the Cherokee training plane a reality.

Respectfully yours,
